

SEEK TO STRIP LABOR BOARD OF ITS AUTHORITY

Would Take Away All Executive Powers of That Body

FIGHT WILL BE MADE

Congress to Be Scene of Battle Ground When it Convenes.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Congress, when it reconvenes, will be the battle ground for three major legislative offensives aimed at stripping the Railroad Labor Board of all executive powers, it was learned today.

Representatives of agricultural interests will join with organized labor and railroad executives in seeking to deal a death blow to the board's arbitrary powers over rail transportation. Their cause will also be supported by some administration leaders as evidenced by Secretary of Labor Davis speech Saturday night in which he openly advocated the abolition of the board.

If this offensive meets with opposition from President Harding, it was reported a compromise might be reached to amend the transportation act in such a way as to leave the board a mere advisory tribunal or conciliatory body. The agricultural interests, however, will insist its present powers be greatly limited whether this position meets with administration opposition or not.

Friends of the board will make a determined effort to give it wider authority and to arm it with executive powers to enforce decisions. This group, led by Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, believes the board's lack of authority to compel obedience to its decisions has caused whatever opposition exists.

They will attempt to amend the transportation act by inserting an anti-strike clause to be used in compelling organized labor to accept the board's decisions. To give the board authority to make the roads obey its decisions, congress will be asked to give it authority to issue fines against offending carriers or executives.

The position of President Harding has not been made known yet though he undoubtedly will favor some changes in the existing law to prevent a recurrence of the rail tie ups of the past summer. Should the president favor Cummins' plans, congress will be the scene of a bitter fight this winter which may threaten the enactment of all other legislation.

TURKISH TROOPS CROSS INTO EUROPE FOR POLICE DUTY

Twenty Five Hundred In Eastern Thrace Under Allied Watch

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—Twenty five hundred Turkish gendarmes crossed into Europe today for police duty in eastern Thrace under allied supervision.

Unconfirmed reports have been received here of massacres of Greek and Armenian Christians by Turks at Ezine, 26 miles south of Chanak. These reports are discredited here as it had previously been announced that all the Greeks were out of Anatolia and Ezine lies in the north-western corner of Anatolia. Evacuation of 400,000 Greeks from eastern Thrace is under way amidst great confusion. Railway stations and docks are besieged with Greek men, women and children seeking places on trains and boats. They are carrying with them such personal effects as they can, but most of their belongings have been left behind.

Turkish troops are reported to have destroyed the town of Kili, in the neutral zone, inhabited by Greeks. Many Greeks are said to have been killed and others, including women, were carried off. The Greeks claim this destruction was the work of gendarmes bound for Thrace.

AMERICAN MARINES

London, Oct. 16.—American, British and Japanese marines have been landed to preserve order at Foochow, seat of the latest outbreak of fighting in China, said a dispatch from Shanghai this afternoon. A revolutionary government has been established at Foochow by the rebel faction. Foochow is capital of Ku Kien Province.

Jailed in Jersey Murder Mystery.

As a result of the investigation into the mysterious murders of Rev. E. W. Hall, and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, his choir leader, Nicholas Bahmer, former saloon keeper of New Brunswick, N. J., has been placed behind bars on serious charges made by his daughter, Pearl, who found the bodies. Bahmer is being questioned as to his whereabouts on the night of the murder.

Armistice Prevented Destruction of Berlin

Bombing Plane Built to Fly 1,000 Miles, Designed for Use Against German Capital During World War, Revealed.

Cleveland, Oct. 16.—When the armistice was signed on Nov. 11, 1918, ending hostilities in the World War, an unique bombing plane built to fly 1,000 miles and designed for the destruction of Berlin, was being put out in quantity production here, it was revealed here for the first time today.

The revelation was made by Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war and Glenn L. Martin, the inventor of the death dealing device. So carefully was the secret guarded that only three men in Cleveland knew of the plan, Mr. Crowell said. Mechanics were working on the device without any knowledge of the plan involved.

The basis of the invention, it was said, was the combination of the flying torpedo, built along the line of the dual motored bombing plane with a small plane of the cut type, but carrying a large fuel tank. In the flight to the objective the two planes were to have been flown as a single unit, the flight plane drawing its fuel from the torpedo plane's tank, leaving its own tank of fuel intact for the return flight.

Under the plan proposed a fleet of flying torpedoes would be piloted under cover of darkness from the American lines to within a few miles of Berlin. The torpedoes would then be released to demolish the German capital while the pilots would return in the flight planes to the American lines.

KILLED HUSBAND IN SELF DEFENSE

Authorities Told Woman Will Not Be Prosted by Toledo

Toledo, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Mabel Hardy, 34, today told why she shot and killed her husband, David Ernest Hardy, 40, in their home last night while her six children, ranging in age from 3 to 14, stood terrorized in a corner of the room and watched the tragedy.

"I could not stand the abuse any longer," Mrs. Hardy said. "Dave had knocked me down and kicked me and when he started to attack me again I thought of the revolver on the piano bench. I got it and when he started for me and shot three times. Then he fell and the children screamed. I told Thelma, the oldest child, to telephone the police and doctors. After that I don't know much what happened."

According to police the Hardy quarrel had been brewing for weeks, following discovery by Mrs. Hardy that her husband had been corresponding with a girl in Oil City, Pa. Her husband had promised to give up the girl, Mrs. Hardy told police and he had written her to that effect but later she found that the exchange of letters continued. Hardy grew angry because of her insistence on the affair being ended and attacked her, knocking her down a flight of stairs on one occasion, she said.

Coroner Hensler announced that no prosecution would be undertaken declaring the killing to have been justified homicide. Police said Mrs. Hardy would not be arrested.

PRIESTS MUST STAY OUT

Rome, Oct. 16.—The Vatican today issued an important warning to bishops and priests of the Roman Catholic Church not to participate in political contests.

GREAT BRITAIN PAYS U. S. FIFTY MILLIONS AS INTEREST ON DEBT

Transaction Represents First Payment by Any of the Allied Powers Upon War Loans of Approximately Ten Billions.

London, Oct. 16.—The first payment by any of the allied powers upon war loans of approximately $10,000,000,000 advanced by the United States is to be made by Great Britain today when the treasury department turns over $50,000,000 to the American government through J. P. Morgan and Company at New York, American fiscal agent of the British government.

This is an installment upon over-due interest upon the $4,277,000,000 lent by the United States to Great Britain in war-time loans and credits. It is believed by British officials that the beginning of interest payments will go far towards unsharpening the inter-allied debt tangle. Payments are to be made at intervals of six months.

The check is drawn against the British government's account with J. P. Morgan and Company in favor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

While the actual date was Sunday, October 15, it was decided to make the payment today instead of Saturday because Saturday is a "short" finance and market day.

The British government's credit with J. P. Morgan and Company consists of gold shipments bonds and American dollars which the treasury department has been buying in large quantities for some months past. The check is payable through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to the general account of the United States treasury in American dollars, not in British pounds sterling.

It is believed here that the beginning of interest payments by England will have a good effect upon the British pound sterling on the exchange market.

Great Britain will not commence payments upon the principal sum of the debt until after funding arrangements have been completed at Washington between the British debt, funding commission headed by Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, and the American debt funding commission.

An appropriation of approximately $125,000,000 for payment of interest on the American debt had been made in the British budget so there is still a residue of $35,000,000 available for the second interest payment in April.

In government circles, there was a feeling of high satisfaction over today's payment, as it shows Great Britain is determined to make good her oft-repeated promise that "England always pays her debts."

In financial and business circles there is equal satisfaction but for a different reason. It is felt that the additions to the already over-wieldy gold surplus of the United States, will hurt her trade and rebound to the advantage of the British trade.

But while officials are gratified the same cannot be said of "the man in the street." The tax payer does not want to see gold flowing away from England. The present rate of income tax is $1.25 on every $5 earned and with England paying off her debt there is little likelihood of the tax being reduced. In fact the tax may be increased.

OHIO HOMES WOULD BECOME SALOONS IF PROPOSAL PASSES

Wheeler Says Beer Amendment Will Precipitate Lawlessness.

Columbus, Oct. 16.—That thousands of homes in Ohio would be turned into saloons and that all kinds of lawlessness would be encouraged if the proposed beer-light wines amendment to the state constitution is adopted are claims made by Attorney Wayne B. Wheeler, Washington, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, addressing a meeting of men at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church here.

Adoption of this proposal would fill the streets with bottles and drunks and make impossible seizure of rum running automobiles without a search warrant, Attorney Wheeler continued.

"This amendment would destroy the state law enforcement machinery for a time, at least, and if upheld by the courts, in part or in toto, would hamstring law enforcement in the state," declared Wheeler. "It is admitted by the wet organization it is an effort to get back to the old time beer."

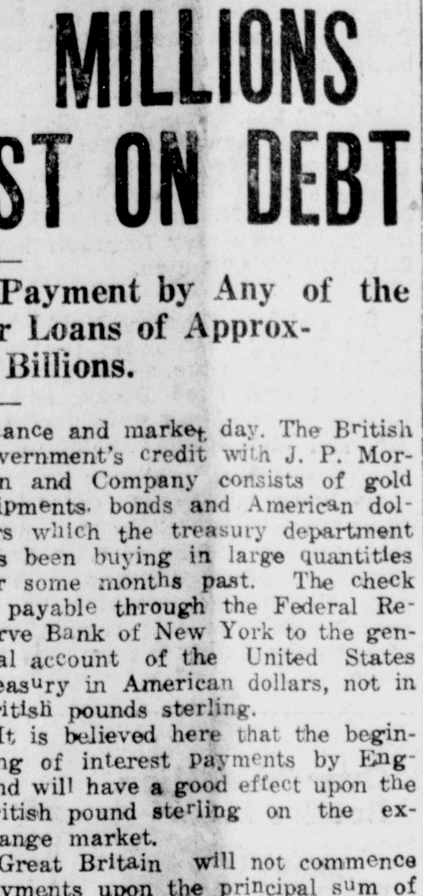

TO TAKE LEGAL STEPS AGAINST SECRET BODY

Cleveland, Oct. 16.—Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton, of Cuyahoga County, and Prosecutor O. C. Park, of Geauga County, will confer here tomorrow upon legal steps to be taken against members of a secret organization believed to have been the Ku Klux Klan which late Saturday held up a number of passers by a lonely road near Chagrin. Fall and held four men prisoners for several hours. Passing motorists were questioned as to their political and religious beliefs, according to reports received by Stanton, and several of them were ordered to turn back.

OTTO J. RENNER DIES IN CINCINNATI SUNDAY

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Otto J. Renner, 51, former assistant attorney general of the United States and trustee of the University of Cincinnati, died here in a hospital early Sunday morning after an illness extending over six months. Hope was expressed for his complete recovery as the result of an operation last August at Rochester, Minn., but complications developed three weeks ago which proved fatal. Mr. Renner was an early defender of the pure food laws of the country, having charge of cases to support their validity while he was assistant to the attorney general.

"OLD AT SEVENTY-THREE? GUESS NOT!"

"I'm not old at seventy-three," declares Mrs. Peter Connell, of Syracuse, N. Y., who donned overalls to help shingle the roof of her home when a carpenter engaged to do the work became ill.

Passengers of Ill Fated Vessel Brought Ashore

Over 250 Survivors of Liner City of Honolulu Disembark at Wilmington, Cal.—Newspaper Man Gets Interview With Megaphone.

Wilmington, Cal., Oct. 16.—Salvaged voyagers of the sea, the 74 passengers and 186 of the crew of the burned Los Angeles-Hawaiian liner City of Honolulu disembarked here today from the U. S. army transport Thomas.

The passengers were in a happy mood when they walked down the gangplank even though some were clad in parts of clothing hastily snatched when the fire called sounded aboard the liner early last Thursday morning when the Los Angeles bound vessel was 60 miles from its destination.

Vivid word pictures were graphically painted of the hours of peril. Paradoxically though—and an eloquent tribute to the marvels of the radio no longer did the full horror of being victims of a sea tragedy dawn on the passengers than they realized they were saved.

Although the transport Thomas arrived off the San Pedro breakwater at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night, the passengers were held in quarantine until this morning, the customs service officials invoking the time honored law of pratique.

Meanwhile, through the night, the government quarantine doctors slept peacefully in their bungalow ten miles away. Although unwilling to be quoted, several of the passengers declared they would endeavor through their congressional representatives to have the law of pratique repealed.

Shortly after the Thomas dropped anchor, a speedy motor boat sailed from the San Pedro submarine base, drew alongside and three marines, formidably accoutred with 45 calibre side arms, climbed the "Jacob's ladder" and took up their positions at convenient points where the vessel's could be boarded. "Nobody can come up," a peremptory voice called down from above when a newspaperman sought to follow the marines.

The International News Service correspondent went to sea in a water taxi and while the big steamer was breasting a rough sea in the Santa Barbara channel, he obtained a complete interview through a megaphone with the rescued passengers.

"Say a good word for Captain Lester, the telephone girl, and the crew of the City of Honolulu," called a man who, from his nondescript attitude which looked as though he had been outfitted from the transport's "slop chest." Then from the fragmentary narratives called through the ship's megaphone, which follows, is the story of the trip and about the fire which broke out on the City of Honolulu.

The vessel was half way to her home port, approximately 670 miles. Wisps of smoke were discovered issuing from beneath hatch No. 6. This was at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. Ordinarily a cargo fire is not considered especially dangerous, many vessels coming into port with smoking cargoes or coal bunkers.

Captain H. R. Lester immediately summoned the full crew and ordered water pumped into the hold. So rapidly did the fire spread, however, that Captain Lester instructed Betty Stanhope, to telephone all passengers to assemble on deck immediately for practice fire drill. This forthright action of the captain, passengers said undoubtedly allayed fear and prevented what otherwise might have developed into a fatal panic.

Most of the passengers, men and women, came laugh to the main saloon amused at the odd sort of kimonas, bath robes, pajamas and night robes suddenly put on display. Shortly, it was dawned on the sleepy throng that the fire drill was a grim reality.

The ship's orchestra began to play. The air was "Three O'clock in the Morning." This familiar and tuneless air calmed any tendency to nervousness. Partners paired off to dance. Then the ship listed and the order came at 9 o'clock to take to the boats. It was all done calmly and the 14 boat loads faced their vigil until rescue came with the same fortitude they displayed on learning of the fire.

SOLDIER BONUS FIGHT IS JUST GETTING START

American Legion Commander Opens Annual Convention

RAPS ADMINISTRATION

Scathing Attack Made On Government's Care of Disabled Veterans.

New Orleans, Oct. 16.—While his "buddies" shouted and stamped their approval, Retiring National Commander Harford MacNider opened the fourth annual convention of the American Legion here today with the militant declaration that the soldiers' bonus fight has only just begun.

From out of the long, hard battle he and his aides directed unsuccessfully to put the "adjusted compensation" bill over the top at Washington MacNider asserted that "no one man, untouched by war, without kith or kin to those who served, no one group, financial or otherwise can stand between the wishes of the American people and the fulfillment of what they believe to be a just obligation."

He made no direct reference to the veto by President Harding of the McCumber-Fordney bonus measure nor to the little group of senators who sustained the veto but he left no doubt as to whom he referred as he carefully aimed each of his barbed verbal shafts at the opponents of adjusted compensation for the nation's ex-service men.

"A great, well financed attack by interests which we can not help but feel are sordid and selfish has given us one little set back but those who represent the people at Washington are with us by great majorities," MacNider added as he dwelt upon the passage of the McCumber-Fordney bill by a vote of 333 to 70 in the house and 47 to 22 in the senate.

Upon the scathing condemnation of the national government's care of sick and disabled world war veterans and the biting criticisms of President Harding and his personal physician, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, chief coordinator of the federal board of hospitalization, contained in the 158 page report made public previously by A. A. Sprague of Chicago, chairman of the legion's national rehabilitation committee, MacNider stamped his unqualified approval.

"The committee," MacNider said, "forms a permanent foundation for all our future work for the disabled men. What is more it means that he is going to receive a square deal from the country he fought for. I feel that during the last year tremendous results for the betterment of the disabled veteran—our first duty always—have been attained."

"The legion has taken its place on a national institution," he declared at the outset of his carefully prepared address. "It is recognized as the voice of the American men and women who served with the colors during the great war. All America realizes that it is a great, growing and dominant force in the nation's existence. No man can stop it but it must be our duty to so build it that its tremendous power, and possibilities may be directed so it shall be as it was dedicated—to our God and our country."

Secretary Mellon was sharply criticized in the report of the legion's national legislative committee for his opposition to the soldier's bonus.

"Instead of the $24,000,000, deficit he predicted on Jan. 24, the government showed a surplus of $313,000,000 at the close of the fiscal year, June 30 last."

"This was an error of $337,000,000 on five months calculation, a sum sufficient to pay the first three years' of the compensation bill."

Styles BY LENORE

After adventuring off in all sorts of directions sleeves have at last decided to take their normal place in the world of dress. Which is to say that sleeves this season really cover the arm, instead of wandering off into aimless draperies or being reduced to ribbons.

Cuffs, however, are taking unusual liberties. At the house of Doucet there are particularly individual innovations. On a gown of gray crepe remain appear ho'glass cuffs of leopard skin. On another gown, unfasten the cuffs and they become winged draperies.

In the blue crepe frock from Le-long illustrated today, the deep flaring bell shape at the wrist is another instance of the strange ways the new sleeve takes. This gown is embroidered in dull gold.

Health is Happiness

HOME MADE TOILET WATER

Use any essence desired, oil or lavender of rose for instance. About 25 drops will perfume five pints of water. Into each one or two half gallon jars put a funnel lined with filter paper with a bunch of cotton at the bottom. On top of this cotton put some finely powdered magnesia over which has been poured the perfume essence. It should be divided and half the quantity put into each jar. Pour into each jar some rainwater or ordinary boiled water. This will filter through the cotton, paper and magnesia and make a soft toilet water with a delightful fragrance.

JASMINE TOILET WATER

To make a gallon, take a quart of spirits of cologne and put it into a gallon jug. Add half an ounce of oil of jasmine. Let stand two weeks. Fill with the best alcohol and let it stand two weeks or more.

LAVENDER TOILET WATER

Steep handful of lavender flowers in white wine vinegar, keeping the jar in a warm place on the back of the stove for three days, after which strain and bottle.

SOAP JELLY FOR SHAMPOO

Make a jelly by dissolving a large cake of green castile soap or any pure soap in a quart of boiling water. This will keep and can be used from time to time. Wet the hair with warm water, take two tablespoonfuls of the jelly with a little soda if desired and rub thoroughly into the hair and well into the scalp. Rinse well, using colder and colder water, and dry in the open air if possible.

SHAMPOO FOR WHITE HAIR

Four ounces of white castile soap dissolved in one pint of boiling water. Cool and keep in glass. When ready to use beat the white of an egg into as much soap as you need to use at one time. Rub into the scalp well before using any water, rinse in several waters and to the last water add a drop or two of bluing. Borax, soda or ammonia should be avoided by white haired women as they give an undesirable yellow tinge.

CALLOUSES

Apply petroleum jelly (vaseline) once a day for two or three days, then soak feet in hot water with a little mustard and salt added to it. Do not cut the callous but rub off the hard skin with a rough towel or pumice stone. Equal parts carbolic acid and glycerine applied persistently is excellent for calloused feet. Rubbing the soles of the feet at night with glycerine is helpful. When feet are inflamed and hot, wrap in folds of cotton cloth wrung out of cold salt water and over this put flannel.

TO FILL IN A HOLLOW NECK

face directly front, drop head forward till chin rests on chest and then move to the left, back and right, in a rotary motion, never jerking the head but bending it in all directions as far as possible. Five minutes a day spent in this way will do wonders.

A MUSTARD BATH

is unusually refreshing. One tablespoonful dry mustard in a bathtub of warm water will rest tired and aching muscles and leave a pleasant glow.

SERIES OF PARTIES FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Margaret Shelly was hostess to the last of the series of attractive parties given for Miss Margaret Fletcher at her home on Cincinnati avenue, Saturday evening, when she received a company of friends for cards.

Five tables of five hundred featured the evening, prizes being awarded the high score holder, while Miss Fletcher was presented a guest prize. A daintily served two course luncheon followed cards.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. George D. Geyer entertained complimenting Miss Fletcher, at a miscellaneous shower, at her home on North King Street, thirty guests being invited to the affair.

Games and contests among which "Advice To The Bride" proved an entertaining amusement, were enjoyed by the guests. Miss Fletcher gave several piano selections during the evening.

A pretty color scheme of yellow and white predominated in the decorations of the rooms of the Geyer home, and in the luncheon course served.

Mrs. Mary Johnson of North King Street, returned Saturday from Marion, Ohio, where she spent the past two weeks with relatives.

Mr. G. A. Neestroth of Greeley, Colorado, is spending the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ankeney, of the Fairground road.

What Do I Know About Trusses?

Did You Ever Ask Yourself That Question When You Go to Buy a Truss?

When you are sick you describe your ailments to your doctor and he gives you what HE thinks is the best for your case. You do not tell him what treatments you want.

It is just as important to have the proper truss, correctly fitted for your special case as it is to have the right treatments for your other ailments.

After I see the nature of your rupture then I know what appliances are necessary to hold your rupture IN, not just UP.

You will never cure yourself of rupture by wearing your truss to just hold your rupture up. Most people do not even know where they are ruptured, but only wear the truss where they SEE the enlargement, and that is where they are wrong.

In most cases one truss ought to cure a rupture, when FITTED by one who knows HOW.

I fit men, women, children and babies.

I will be fitting trusses and other surgical appliances at the Regal Hotel, Wednesday, October 18, from 1 to 5 p. m. Will have lady assistant with me.

Trusses for every kind of rupture, abdominal supporters, maternity belts, reducing supporters, elastic hosiery.

AND THE PUBLIC TOOK IT ALL IN

Mansfield, O., Oct. 16.—Fred Troll, a city fireman, stationed at No. 1 Engine House here, returned from a wedding trip lasting several days.

The boys at No. 1 Engine House handcuffed Troll, shackled his ankles wound a one-inch rope around him, made him wear blue spectacles and a dilapidated cap, placed a tin cup in his hands and compelled him to essay the role of a street beggar, while they took snapshot pictures of him and the cards which they placed around him.

As the coins, contributed by passersby, fell into the tin cup the fireman took the money away from Troll.

One placard announced Troll's wedding. Another that he needed money to buy a baby buggy and a bird cage. The public, seemingly, derived the greatest amusement from a card which announced that "My personal liberty is shot!"

FIND REFUGE IN UNITED STATES

New York, Oct. 16.—Thousands of Jews from war-ridden Europe, deprived of opportunity in their native lands, annually are finding heaven in the United States through the assistance of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America.

"Hias" is not dedicated, however, to the indiscriminate importation of Jews unable to "make good" at home.

The organization probably advises as many Jews to stay where they are as it helps to come to America.

If a Jew lives in Palestine "Hias" concludes that he is better off in the homeland.

If he is too old to break away from the lifelong ties he is told he had better not come to America to start life anew.

If he is mentally or physically defective "Hias" discovers that fact before he crosses the ocean. There are some of the reasons why out of 190,000 Jewish immigrants who come to the United States between Jan. 1920, and June 30, 1922, only 711 were turned back.

"Hias" is practicing "selective" immigration, and with great success.

It's theory is not charity, but helpfulness. If a Jewish family in this country wants to send for a relative it turns the money over to "Hias". The sum is transmitted to the person for whom it is intended, without expense, except for the cable message. The organization's international banking system transmitted nearly thirteen million dollars this way from January, 1920, to June 30, 1922, and paid the money in greenbacks. There are no exchange tolls.

"Hias's" headquarters at the old Astor library are a model of cleanliness, efficiency and cheerfulness.

The organization recognizes and maintains the traditions and rites of the orthodox Jewish religion. The line is carefully drawn between the immigrant and the "wayfarer," who are kept apart for obvious reasons. Immigrants are taught that America is the land of opportunity—the wayfarer does not always bear out this preachment. There are separate entrances, dining rooms and sleeping quarters. Jewish dietary rules also are observed. Separate kitchens are maintained for the meats, dairy products and vegetables. Meat and milk are never cooked together—never even prepared in the same room.

A storeroom is kept where immigrants may get hats, suits, shoes, underwear—if they need them—gratis.

The "wayfarer's" dining room is open to all, regardless of creed, color or religion—and all kinds patronize it.

The organization is maintained by popular subscription. Just now there is a campaign afoot for a $500,000 fund. The executives, doctors and dentists all donate their services.

One of the prettiest dresses for the jeune fille shown at Jenny's was a frock of caramel brown Georgette crepe, made entirely of pleated panels—five of them for the skirt.

hanging straight and loose from the waistline, the pleats kept in place by a three-inch band of nutria at the base of each panel.

The bodice, too, was pleated. And a little cape that hung half way down the back and was edged with nutria, completed the delightfully youthful effect of the design. And oh, a novel way of finishing the neck and waistline was accomplished by the use of the same material tightly shirred in vertical rows at narrow intervals.

There is no perceptible change in the length of skirts. The frock described was about eight inches from the floor, considerably more comfortable than the ankle length fashions that were predicted for this season.

DELIVERS ADDRESS

Mr. John Prugh, state superintendent of Building and Loans, spent the week end at his home in this city. He came here from Peoria, Ill., where he gave an address before the annual convention of the Illinois State Building and Loan Association. Mr. Prugh has also been invited to give an address before the Cook County Building and Loan League at a meeting which will be held in Chicago this fall, and is planning to attend. Mr. Prugh is gaining a reputation as a speaker and his services are much in demand.

BRIEF MESSAGE TO PARENTS TELLS OF BOY'S DEATH IN WEST

Carroll Lane, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lane, of High Street, died in or near Belle-Fourche, South Dakota, Friday, according to a brief message received by his parents Saturday night.

The telegram received bore the brief information that Carroll had died Friday, containing no particulars relating to the cause of his death. It was signed by C. P. Chapney, of Belle-Fourche, whom relatives believe must be an undertaker at that place.

Carroll had been working in the harvest fields in the west, employed on a ranch near Spearfish until recently, and according to word received by relatives here had started to return home. No further word was received by his family, and they have no knowledge of whether he became ill or whether his death was due to an accident. Several wires directed to Chapney have not been answered.

Carroll and Leroy Stephens, also of this city, left here in June on a trip of adventure, working their way through the west. They had kept relatives informed of their whereabouts by letters. Carroll had been employed by a rancher near Spearfish, S. Dakota, where he helped during the harvest season. Relatives of the Stephens boy received a letter from him stating that Carroll had started home. With the end of the harvest season at hand, members of his family also expected that he would be returning soon. Belle-Fourche is about 35 or 40 miles from where he had been employed.

Carroll attended the public schools here and also Central High School, where last year he was a member of the football squad. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lane, there are two sisters, Misses Violet and Catherine and two brothers, Myron and Forest surviving.

COMMITTEE WILL AID FERNEDING

Columbus, Oct. 16.—Formation of a non-partisan judicial committee to support the candidacy of Judge Henry L. Ferneding of Dayton for re-election to the court of appeals bench of this district was completed Saturday.

The statement of the Ferneding Non-Partisan committee says:

"Henry L. Ferneding is a candidate for re-election to the court of appeals on the non-partisan judicial ticket. Because of his high character and his splendid record of efficiency, courage and faithfulness in the discharge of his duties in this very important office, the undersigned committee of Franklin county, strongly endorses his candidacy and asks the public to support him."

The indorsement is signed by the following men and women:

Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University; former Governor James E. Campbell; Judge David F. Pugh, Mrs. Dora Sandoe Bachman, Mrs. William McPherson, Mrs. Julius F. Stone, Lowry F. Sater, Henry Gumble, Dean John J. Adams, George B. Okey, Campbell M. Voorhees, James A. Allen, Dr. Charles S. Hamilton, M. B. Cain, William E. Bird, Edward C. Turner, Dr. Alice Johnston.

Why This Dish

Why do millions of mothers start their children's days on oats?

Because oats form the premier food.

Their energy value is 1810 calories per pound.

They supply 16 elements which growing children need.

They are rich in minerals.

They supply the whole-grain vitamins.

Why do we make a special grade and call them Mother's Oats?

And why do so many mothers serve them?

Because oats differ in flavor. Some are delicious, some are not.

Mothers want the flavory oats, so we pick them out and flake them.

If you want to make the oat dish welcome, always serve Mother's Oats.

MOTHER'S OATS

HARDING INTERESTED IN THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

President Harding would have to be other than human not to wish the Republican Party a victory in the senatorial contest in his own State this year. Being intensely human, the President is taking a deep personal interest in the battle between Representative Fess and Senator Pomerene, the Democratic incumbent. Brown, has assumed a Fochian role in the Ohio campaign. With a sort of "go as far as you like" commission, Mr. Brown has proceeded to skim the cream off the Republican oratorical bucket and proposes feeding it to Ohioans in big doses.

Cabinet members have learned they were drafted and dates assigned them. When they demurred, a smiling personal request from the President has brought them into line. The result will be Republican meetings in Ohio will have celebrities galore.

The President and Chairman Adams have every reason to be pleased with the trend of the campaign in Ohio. Reports reaching them indicate a Fess-Thompson victory. The Republicans are reported as having made great strides to overcome the personal popularity of Senator Pomerene, and the Democrats have done many things to muddy the waters for the Senator.

THE "BIG FOUR" ENDS.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, announces in Cleveland the beginning of the end of the Rail Brotherhood's "Big Four." Their working and strike-threat alliance is being dissolved.

This is big railroad news, big labor news and big news to the Nation. It will end the menace of a general rail strike that has hung over this country since the fall of 1915, came dangerously near in October, 1921, and threatened again in August of this year.

The trainmen and conductors will go it alone. The engineers and firemen will, perforce, do the same. That means the ringing down of the curtain on any nation-wide strike.

President Lee sees a little further into the future than some of his brethren and realizes that unionism has been drifting straight toward a head-on collision with the public. The situation was getting out of control of the unions and the executives. As President Lee says:

This whole business, with all railroad labor on one side, all the railroads on the other and the Railroad Labor Board in between, got too big for one man or a few men to handle. It was loaded with dynamite for the country as well as for ourselves and the executives. . . . A nation-wide rail strike is not possible today. It costs the railroads and the unions which indulge in it more than they can afford to lose. The shopmen's strike proved that. When a strike gets so big that it cannot be controlled then the government will step in and control it. This results in legislation detrimental to all concerned. . . . No sane government would permit any faction or class to paralyze the transportation business, and thereby punish the innocent, who are always in the majority.

LIGHTER CARS SUCCESS, ELECTRIC ROAD PROVES.

Some months ago Henry Ford asserted that one of the big reasons why the railroads of the United States are not making money is the heavy weight of rolling stock as compared to the carrying capacity. He said freight rolling stock could be reduced to one-third of the weight and passenger cars to much less.

So far nothing has been done by steam roads along these lines, but one Ohio electric interurban road has pioneered in lighter passenger cars and has found them a distinct success. It is the Western Ohio Railway Company, operating between Findlay and Piqua, 113 miles.

The line has recently replaced old heavy high-speed cars with a new type of less than half the weight, made by the J. G. Brill Company, Philadelphia. Ten cars are in operation. It is estimated that the road will have $90,000 more in the treasury this year because of the use of the lighter weight cars.

The new car is said to ride easier than the old heavy car. It attains speed more quickly and, therefore, makes the run more rapidly. The lighter weight makes it easy on the tracks and easier on itself. The decrease in weight was obtained through the use of the finest of steel pressed framework, and through other economies. The car, seating forty-eight persons, weighs 32,462 pounds, which is about 676 pounds a passenger. Ordinary high-speed interurban cars weigh as much as 1,500 pounds or more to the passenger.

THE CREDIT OF COURAGE.

More than once, for one reason or another, some soldier's identity or battle record has been challenged and there has been no way to settle the question. The veterans of the greatest war are to be protected from such uncertainty, according to plans just made in Washington.

A Battle Participation Board has been constituted for this purpose. Its duty is the reviewing of the record of every outfit which went into service over seas. Exactly what part each division took in activities against the Germans will be determined, together with the names of the men enrolled in the division. The final records will be carefully preserved at Washington.

This move will be a matter of protection to the service man and to his family and descendants. It will be especially valuable if, in case of the final failure of any federal bonus plan, the pension system should be invoked later for World War veterans. There are veterans and their dependents of former wars who have had the greatest difficulty in obtaining pensions to which they were entitled because the record of service was indefinite or lost entirely. Action to prevent such contingencies in the future is a duty of the national government.

Treasury experts estimate that the new tariff act will yield approximately $400,000,000 a year in revenue, one-half coming from sugar, tobacco, raw wool and laces and embroideries.

JUST TO KEEP HISTORY STRAIGHT

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

Hundreds of people here are suffering for want of fuel with no prospect in sight for relief. There is no coal in town for sale and no prospects for any soon. Only a promise of relief—Yellow Springs News.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Davis who have been visiting in Washington, D. C., for the past week or two returned home last week. One of the largest and most enthusiastic political meetings ever held in Greene County was that at the Xenia Opera House last night when a magnificent audience which filled every seat packed the aisles and crowded the doorways assembled to hear Senator Marcus A. Hanna, Governor Nash and Hon. Horace Ankeney make addresses.

Since the rush in the freight freight-traffic on the Pan Handle continues without abatement, it has been decided to put on an additional crew in the night yards.

NECK AND THROAT MASSAGE
There is never any reason for a neglected or ugly neck, nor any reason why the neck should grow old. Wrinkles are bound to come on the face. The chin line is certain to sag from the hair by combing with a fine toothed comb that is kept wet with vinegar. The dandruff shows an unhealthy condition of the scalp. Massaging the scalp daily to increase

T. V.—You can remove these shells from the hair by combing with a fine toothed comb that is kept wet with vinegar. The dandruff shows an unhealthy condition of the scalp. Massaging the scalp daily to increase lose its firmness. Sensible treatments can only minimize the effects of time they cannot eliminate them. But the neck can be kept young as long as you have the patience to treat it.

One reason for this is that you cannot exercise the neck, you can feed the tissues of the neck with cocoa butter which the complexion could not stand. You can give the neck far more vigorous massage than the face would bear.

No matter what your trouble is, begin the treatment by scrubbing the neck with warm water, a mild soap and a moderately stiff bristled flesh brush. This opens and cleanses the pores of the skin but more than this, it stimulates and invigorates the muscles by bringing up to them a fresh supply of blood. The pores being opened the rest of the treatment is more effective. Cocoa butter or flesh building cream should now be massaged in if the neck is old or wrinkled, otherwise cleansing cream is best.

The massage should be vigorous and should be done with the tips of the fingers of each hand, the motion being the rubbing of small circles on the neck, followed by an up and down motion over the lines in the front. If the neck is shriveled, dry or wrinkled a thick coating of cream can be left on the surface all night if the neck is lightly bound with strips of muslin.

This will allow the skin many hours to assimilate this nourishing oil. Such a treatment with cleansing or bleaching cream has been found effective in cases where the neck is sunburned or discolored, but it should be frequently repeated for an old neck.

circulation; also use a good hair tonic twice or three times each week.

Waiting—Ordinarily, the skin will only require one thorough cleansing each day. This should be done just before retiring. The skin is then ready for its early morning toning treatment with dashes of very cold water. However, if the skin is badly soiled its pores filled with soot or other particles additional cleanings will prevent its becoming grimed. Many busy women in the big cities visit the beauty parlors weekly to have the skin cleansed thoroughly; then keep it up themselves through nightly cleansing at night.

HE MEN.

Strong and fearless men go forth, where the arctic tempests sweep, in the reaches of the North where the snow is ten feet deep; and they battle with the gales, and they scrap with wolves, and they may have he-men tales in the fiction magazines. They would all be better off in a sunny clime like ours, where the sportive minded toff may cavort among the flowers; but they freeze their fingernails and they live on frozen beans; for we must have he-men tales in the fiction magazines. And the he-men roam the woods in the tempest and the snow, seeking hides and other goods worth about two bits a throw; and the gentle reader pales while his rocking chair careens, as he reads the he-men tales in the fiction magazines. There are he-men in the town, far away from polar bears; some of them are holding down cheap and wobbly office chairs; but they figure in no tales in the he-men magazines. But the he-men have to go to the burning wastes of sand, or the wilderness of snow, where the gloomy forests stand; they must follow far off trails; if they don't they spill the beans, and they figure in no tales in the red blood magazines.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

"Drugs and Music"

You see many strange things in a small town. The other day I passed through a little settlement of perhaps 300 people. Merely a handful of houses, one street—Main Street, of course—and one store.

From quite a distance, as you looked down this street, only one sign was visible. It hung over the sidewalk into the street, and this is what it said: DRUGS and MUSIC.

One would think that these two made up the sole necessities for health and happiness in that small town.

I will agree as to the music. But as to the drugs—well, it's too bad!

Drugs. It got me to thinking that you don't have to go into drug stores to get drugs. Many of us make our own to our sorrow.

A man can drug himself with such drug-thoughts as "Tomorrow," "Sometime," "It doesn't matter much anyway," "It can wait," "I'm so tired," "I'll never be happy," "I was born out of luck."

On the other hand he can whistle and sing himself into heaven itself—for heaven is where happiness is. And there is always music there. Mostly, it's low, sweet music for which you have to listen patiently—music from some hidden or distant violin, or harp, or flute—gentle, like thoughts which have first been bathed in love.

The drug thoughts put us to sleep, make us groggy in action, and take all ourselves from us. But our music thoughts lift us out of ourselves and lead us into usefulness.

It is only when the body has been abused that drugs from the store sometimes become necessary. But I am safe, I believe, in stating that music is one of the essentials to life itself.

Shakespeare, that great understander of human nature, put it better than anyone has ever done before or since: "I, hath charms" he says, "to soothe the savage breast—to soften rocks!" Could a more striking statement be uttered as to the power of music?

Less drugs—and more music!

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million. You can increase your red-blood-cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells thicken in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferer, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema, with all its fiery, skin-digging torture and its soul-destroying, unbearable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll! Blood-cells are the fighting elements of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1891! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together, then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur M. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes: "My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and in well now. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Time is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM WALLOPED BY EAGLES OF DAYTON

The Dayton Eagles may not have as strong a football team as they boasted in former years, but even with their backfield shifted, they were sweet enough to walloped the Xenia American Legion eleven at Washington St. Park, Sunday afternoon, 25 to 0.

A fast backfield with an ability to run the ends for big gains, proved the most successful form of attack for the visitors, and they hung up long dashes on daring around end plays that reached the Xenia secondary defense before they were stopped. On the other hand, the visitors, generally rated as expert exponents of the overhead game, resorted to this form of attack frequently but were only successful once.

The local secondary defense was able to smash up the aerial game on practically every time it was attempted, with the result that the visitors only completed one pass for a 20-yard gain, out of 11 attempted. The visitors however, negotiated 11 first downs, principally on around-end plays, with "Cleet" Sillen sparking in this form of attack. Xenia was able to pick up but two first downs, both of them through the successful completion of two passes that worked out of ten attempted. A pass, Stephens to Fuller negotiated 40-yards once, and just before the game ended, Stephens passed one to Al Houk, for a gain of 25 yards.

Had the Legion had an organized offensive, it would have undoubtedly have made things interesting for the Eagles aggregation. As it was the locals were forced to depend on a defensive and punting game. "Tuffy" Fuller at half played his usual hang-up game at his position, and near the close of the first half came within a few yards of scoring for his team, when he intercepted a pass and ran 75 yards to within a few yards of the goal, where he was dragged down as the half-ended. The play was the most sensational of the day.

There is an answer for the reason the fleet-footed Eagle backs could not gain through the line, The Borton brothers at the tackles were stopping things coming their way as usual while Big Tullis, Baker, Harry Walker and McCoy were handling things in the center of the line. Houk at end sparkled with many pretty tackles, as did Harner on defensive half. W. Leahey was off-color in the backfield with a Charley Horse that forced him to the sidelines, but his brother, F. Leahey, Horen and Milburn played well. Stephens starred at his usual passing game, while Eddie Thomas was in every play backing up the line.

"Cleet" Sillen, Drummer and Friend distinguished themselves in the visitors' backfield, while Bonadio, Schwab and Arntz on the line and Moll at end, played well. The visitors attempted a pass early in the first quarter that landed in the end zone. Fuller punted from the 20 to Drummer on Xenia's 46, "Cleet" Sillen got two, and Drummer dashed around end for 14. "Cleet" repeated for 20 around the other end and then scored from the ten-yard line, after Friend had failed to gain. Moll missed an attempted place kick.

There was no scoring in the second period, Crouse and Fuller intercepting passes in that stanza that took the backbone out of the Dayton team's attack. Shortly after the second half opened, Bergen ran the ends for ten and then Moll punted into end zone. Stephens punted to the visitors on Xenia's 43 yard line. Bergman made seven and "Cleet" Sillen 20. Bergman tumbled on the next play, but Bondio covered the ball for an 11 yard gain. The Sillen brothers picked up eight and then F. Sillen scored. Moll attempted a pass into the end zone to "Cleet" Sillen for the extra point, but it failed.

Shortly after the kickoff, Stephens passed to Fuller for 40 yards, and he was down on Dayton's 23. A pass was blocked and then Frank Sillen intercepted a pass on the goal line and ran 50 before he was dragged down. After making two first downs F. Sillen attempted a drop kick that Fuller caught on Xenia's own ten. Worman intercepted a Xenia pass however, and then Bergman passed 30 yards to Moll who was downed on Xenia's 8. Friend made the touch down off tackle, and Moll drop kicked the extra point.

Thomas received the kickoff and returned it 20-yards but on the first play Frank Sillen intercepted a Xenia pass on Xenia's 35 and ran for the last touchdown. Moll missing an attempted dropkick. Stephens' pass to Houk for 25 yards came as the game ended.

EXHILIRATING NEW EXPRESSIVE of the Best in all Styles is the Apparel in this store.

New Frocks

FROCKS are the most versatile of all new things for Fall. Here are frocks with Russian, Persian, Egyptian, classic Greek, or Roman style details. Waistlines vary from the very low one of Russian origination to the basque effects. Draped hip effects and the circular skirt are recent style modes.

$19.75 to $60.00

The Fall Tailleur

Accentuates Dressy Russian Models

THE modes and manners of suits. How important they are to Milady of the Fall who chooses a suit to wear into these brisk, leaf-blown days. Costume Tailleurs in modes a la Russe, or piquantly boxed styles are infinitely varied in sleeves and trimmings. Beautiful embroideries glint with metal. Braiddings are unique. Fur trimmings are more luxuriously beautiful than they've ever been.

$25.00 to $100.00

The Three Piece Costume Suit

ULTRA smart is the three piece costume suit of Duvet-Delaine or Veldyne with waist of matallesse or crepe-de-chine in plain or Persian effect. The coat may be straight belted or flare back style, or perhaps is of Carcul with fur trims, especially interesting because it can be worn with equal success with other costumes.

$50.00 to $150.00

Furs

That add Charm

NOT in vain has the sable, the martin, the opossum or sly Br'er Fox given up his beautiful pelt, for it adds the final note of distinction to Milady's suit or costume when she fastens about her throat a lovely choker made of soft-fest fur.

Indeed, the suit or gown is scarcely complete without the chokers of which we have such delightful array.

$7.50 to $35.00

Piquant Fashions For Modern little People

"WHAT'S What" in the little girl's fashion world? Why such delectable things as a frock a la Russe, a Hindu broadcloth coat, fur trimmed, with a velvet hat to match, the streamers tumbling off the side, fur balled. For little brother mannish coats of chinchilla or cheviot. Our line of children's hats and coats is complete.

$5.00 to $8.50

Graceful Wraps

With Straight Line Silhouettes

FASHION designers have placed their faith, in the straight-line silhouette. Such beautiful fabrics, gorgeous embroideries and fur trimmings have been launched for Fall 1922 that wraps are creations indeed. The Russian side closing, striking girdles, mandarin sleeves, low bloused effects and the clever use of beautiful furs on wraps of Lustrella, Gerona, Marvella, Fashona, Velcuna and Panvalene make wraps notable in the Fall revue.

Competing for favor with the ever desirable navy and black are new shades with names suggestive of tropic warmth of tone—Hindu, Nubian, Hawaiian Blue and Mandalay.

Sport Togs

Briskly Breeze
Into Style Arenas

WHEN the poignant tang of Autumn's brisk, cool days makes a hike, or a round of golf a thrilling thing indeed, Sport Togs of such charm as those assembled here assume tremendous importance. Jaunty coats of camels hair, or plaid backed fabrics, sweaters of dashing hue, or Navajo design, skirts of striking patterns, blithe hats of felt or duvetyne, breeze into Fall affairs all set for action.

Accessories

With the Gift of Novelty

THE League of Little Fashions has in it such beguiling things as French party boxes of black moire silk, drum shaped with lovely little inside furnishings, patent leather party boxes equipped with everything, even a tiny electric light that insures the last minute glimpse. There are beads of every hue, or of jet or carved ivory, long pendant ear rings, pleated braid girdles and tassels galore.

Clever New Fabrics

Aptly Express The New Style Trend

RESOURCEFUL Fabric Designers taking their cue from the slender silhouette, have created Fall fabrics of supple, easily draped quality. There are new versions of old favorites as well as some distinctly new materials.

SILKS

Of New Beauty

There is the new Trico-net, soft and lovely for draping, heavy, lustrous crepe-de-chine, and Canton crepes of beautiful texture. All the new shades are found here.

Evening Fabrics--

of Exquisite Hue

The stuff that dreams can well be made of—are the changeable taffetas that come in shades as alluring as moonbeams themselves. Ribbons of metal hue are used for trimming.

WOOLENS

Fine and Warm

There are handsome polret twills, serges, tricotines and many others, each created especially for the Fall style of 1922.

Hats

A League of Gay
Nations

FASHION, feminine person that she is, has dealt lovingly with her hats for fall. She has given them striking interpretations of Russian, Oriental and French Court modes, or she has made Egyptian toques, unique, imperial affairs with a cabachon high in front or a militant dagger thrust through the side front. Metal glints on hats for street or dress wear and aluminum jostles gold or silver hues. For dressiest wear all black reigns supreme.

$5.00 to $25.00

New Blouses

That Arrest Attention

BOUSES follow many vagaries in fabrics and style and the Jacquette made of gayly brocade fabrics is very new. Conventional designs on crepe-de-chine, satin crepe or georgette follow the trend for things Oriental, or Russian. There are hip length blouses of heavy Persian crepe, blouses of Crepe Romaine, Canton crepe, and strikingly new ones of Crepe Romaine and lace or Crepe Romaine and velvet brocade.

$7.50 to $20.00

Fall Togs For Junior Misses Makes Buoyant Debut

SPRIGHTLY modes for the Junior miss call attention to their supple outlines. There is a dash of fur on coats, Russian and peasant sleeves on frocks, gay little suits with flaring box coats and joyous sweaters.

Coats With a Flurry of Fur About Them

BEAVER, fox or piquant caracul in bands and tabs, engulfing collars and sleeve trimmings, are on coats with the new fashionable low waist line. Embroiderie of chenille or floss are frequently used as trimmings.

Frocks--an Infinite Variety of Newcomers

FROCKS—their infinite variety alone is a challenge to the novelty loving miss. Russian embroidery, a peasant sleeve, with intricate embroidery, Velvetene frocks with touches of bright silk embroidery or velveteen and colorful Canton crepe combinations, not to mention a great array of wool serges as delightful as they are youthful.

RECORDS SMASHED IN PULITZER RACE AT MICHIGAN FIELD

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 16.—Preparations were underway today to demobilize the greatest fleet of airplanes ever assembled on one field in America, that brought to Selfridge Field for the national air meet, which closed Saturday with the Pulitzer trophy race.

More than 200 machines were parked at the army flying station the final day of the races. They were valued at $1,600,000. The meet in the opinion of army and navy aero heads was one of the most successful ever conducted, and marked wonderful advancement in aeronautics in this country. Technical data assembled during the races will be of great assistance to builders of both commercial and fighting planes.

More records were shattered Saturday than in any previous race, all the world speed records for competition being surpassed by Pulitzer contenders.

The official world speed record set by Sadi Lécointe in France a few weeks ago, was among the first to fall. On the first lap of 30 miles Lieutenant L. J. Maitland, of Bolling Field, Anacostia, D. C., averaged 216.1 miles an hour.

The Frenchman's 216 miles an hour was over one-kilometer straightaway while Maitland's feat was on a closed course, and for a much greater distance.

Later in the race Maitland had trouble with his engine on the 120-degree turns, and his average for the 156 miles covered was 203 miles an hour. The world competition records for 50, 100 and 200 kilometers were shattered by half a dozen of the contenders. Among these was Lieutenant R. L. Maughan, winner of the Pulitzer trophy, who also broke the closed course record of a little more than 179 miles in an hour set by George Kirsch, in France, last September. Maughan's speed was 206 miles an hour.

Apprehension of army and navy officials that the terrific speed would be too much for human endurance proved to be without basis, although Lieutenant Maughan was whirled into unconsciousness once as he made a 120-degree turn. The pilot was "out" three or four seconds while his plane shot through the air for a distance of several city blocks.

This experience, however, was believed to be due to the daring manner in which Maughan took the turns. His pylon work was said by a number of officials to be the most spectacular they had ever witnessed. On each turn the pilot traveling at tremendous speed pulled his machine sheer up, completing the turn upside down.

TO SALVAGE VESSEL

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—Fire on board the City of Honolulu has died down to such an extent that two men from the freighter West Farallon standing by the burning hulk were able to go aboard today for an inspection trip, said a wireless message from the West Farallon to the federal telegraph company today.

What salvage operations can be undertaken will depend upon the report of the two men making the inspection.

Mrs. Milly Berman-Cheever-Cheever

The embarrassing predicament of having to explain to ex-Husband No. 1 how she happened to elope with ex-Husband No. 2 while No. 1 was expecting to marry her him self, is causing much mental anguish to Mrs. Milly Berman-Cheever-Cheever, Chicago. Mrs. Cheever changed her mind five times about her ex-husbands and eloped with Cheever while engaged to Berman, wealthy furrier. When she first married Berman she pronounced him 100 per cent perfect, but later divorced him for his jealousy. Then along came Paul Cheever wealthy haberdasher, and she married him but later got a divorce when she found Cheever with another woman. Berman came courting again, and she allowed him to buy an engagement ring but changed her mind and married Cheever again.

was made public last night at the White House, further declares that "few Congresses have been called upon for such arduous service as has been exacted from the sixty-seventh" and adds that he doubts "if any Congress in our history has accomplished so impressive a volume of work, touching so wide a range of national interest."

In addressing his letter to Mr. Mondell, who is the Republican candidate for the senate from Wyoming, the president asserts that he does so "in testimony of my appreciation of the great public service . . . of yourself as its majority leader." He also praises Mr. Mondell's "fine resources of patience, sound judgment, candor and legislative experience."

To care for the large number of patients to be received at the clinic the officials have met with a shortage of bedding, and are calling upon donations on the part of the public to remedy the matter.

Any description of bedding, whether worn or not, will be gladly received by the officials, who are asking anyone who possesses extra blankets, comforts, sheets, or quilts which they are willing to donate to call the Red Cross office in the Court House and arrangements will be made to get the bedding.

FIND WALNUTS ARE PLENTIFUL

Walnuts are plentiful over the county, if the experience of forty boys of the O. S. and S. O. Home is to be taken for an example.

The boys spent Saturday at the farm of D. O. Jones at Trebeins gathering the nuts, the amount gathered from nine o'clock to noon totalling one hundred and sixty bushels. The boys made the trip to the Jones farm in a large truck, the driver being obliged to return to this city with the nuts and later return for the boys.

A basket lunch at noon and a football game in the afternoon featured the boys' outing.

BRAND APPEARS WIT G. O. P. SPEAKERS IN XENIA SATURDAY

Charles Brand, of Urbana, Republican candidate for Congress from this, the Seventh Congressional District, was in Xenia Saturday, where he met the delegation of speakers headed by Carmi A. Thompson, gubernatorial candidate, who opened the fall campaign here.

Mr. Brand was scheduled to accompany the party on the trip around the county but was ill and did not arrive in time for the afternoon meeting here, taking part in the program at City Hall Theater. Because the state campaign committee has delegated him to speak in other parts of the state, he will only spend about half of his time campaigning in this district, he said Saturday.

Other candidates who were here for the meeting Saturday were Thad Brown of Columbus, candidate for Secretary of State and Frank I. Brown, of Dayton, spoke at the meeting Saturday afternoon with Mr. Thompson and J. Adam Bede, Congressman from Minnesota. The speakers were introduced by F. L. Smith, Chairman of the Republican Central Committee.

The entire party were guests for dinner at the O. S. and S. O. Home Saturday evening.

WILLIAM J. HOOK DIES ON SUNDAY

William Josephus Hook, 80, former Xenian, died at the Masonic Home at Springfield, where he had been an inmate for the past two years, Sunday morning about nine o'clock. Mr. Hook had been in good health until the past two weeks, death resulting from the infirmities of age. Two weeks ago he visited his sister, Mrs. Nettie Herritt at Columbus, when he appeared in his usual good health, being taken ill a short time later.

Mr. Hook was born in Greene County, near Xenia, and had spent many years of his life in this vicinity. For thirty years, he made his home in Van Wert, Ohio, with relatives. With the exception of his sister Mrs. Herritt of Columbus, no near relatives survive. Four cousins, T. H. Bell, and Thomas Hook, of Xenia, and Mrs. Emery Beal and Mrs. John Fudge, of near Xenia, are cousins of the deceased.

The body was brought from Springfield Monday and taken in charge by J. H. Whitmer, of the Whitmer Undertaking Establishment. Funeral services will be held from the Whitmer parlors, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock and will be brief. Bureal will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

FORMER GERMAN RULER AND SON ILL

Amsterdam, Oct. 16.—Both the ex-Kaiser and the former German crown Prince were reported ill today. Word from Doorn said that the ex-emperor's condition is not serious and that members of his household believe that his illness will not interfere with his marriage plans. The ex-crown prince is in more serious condition. He is reported to be threatened with serious lung trouble, due to the damp climate on Wieringen Island, his place of exile.

An Invitation

We extend a cordial invitation to everybody to visit our store. Come in and see the notable display of Kuppenheimer Overcoats. Season, after season, these splendid garments prove themselves the nation's standard of clothing value.

There is no finer tailoring in the world than in a Kuppenheimer coat. The workmanship is perfect down to the smallest detail—the product of master craftsmen. In fact it's a pleasure to look inside and through these

Kuppenheimer OVERCOATS

The fabrics are the cream of the world's looms. Rich, warm shades, beautiful weaves, fine fleecy textiles. New overplaid and plain effects—a variety of patterns and designs.

This winter's styles are varied enough to please all preferences. Coats are belted or with straight box backs, pleated or loose hanging. Raglan and set-in sleeves; storm or ulster collars. Three quarter to full lengths. These coats are the finest achievement from the House of Kuppenheimer. And here is the climax to the announcement!

Prices are lower this fall than for many seasons past. You can buy a sterling Kuppenheimer Overcoat for

ONLY ONE SET BACK MARKS FOOTBALL GAME SATURDAY

Practically only one big set-back marked the games in Ohio Conference football Saturday.

The big set-back was when the championship aspirations of the Denison eleven were severely dampened by the Baptist's 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of Ohio University. After Denison's 14 to 3 victory over Wilmington last week, followers of Livingston's team believed that it would cut a wide swathe in the Conference race this fall.

The defeat of Wilmington was sufficiently impressive to make that hope excusable, for the Quakers had been going strong in holding Butler 10 to 0 and Detroit to 7 to 0 scores. Butler proved its strength again Saturday by defeating Illinois 10 to 7, although followers of the two teams were not surprised at the lack of strength shown by Juppke's eleven.

Other games in the Conference went according to the hope. Ohio Wesleyan, after holding State to a 5 to 0, while Miami, playing its first Northern 14 to 0, in spite of the fact that the Ada school boasts a strong eleven this year. Wooster continued to show form in defeating Case 27 to 0, while Miami, playing its first game of the season, walloped Akron 20 to 12. Because Cincinnati has not played any conference games this season, the strength of the Bearcats cannot be determined, but it is believed that Wesleyan, Wooster, Miami, and possibly Wittenberg will again fight it out for honors, while St. Xavier's win over Dayton indicates that the other Cincinnati Conference eleven will have to be given consideration.

In the Western Conference Oberlin showed surprising strength in holding Ohio State to a 14 to 0 score.

Wittenberg had an easy mark in Western Reserve, defeating the Cleveland eleven 33 to 6. Otterbein ran away with the already eliminated Muskingum eleven 26 to 7. Kenyon defeated Hiram 28 to 0, while Mt. Union broke its losing streak with a 15 to 0 win over Heidelberg.

In non-Conference games, Wilmington had an easy time with the weak Transylvania eleven from Lexington, Ky., winning 58 to 0, while Marietta snatched a 7 to 0 victory from Marshall and Ashland defeated Kent Normal 14 to 0. Iowa's defeat of Yale in the big intersectional match of the day, proved that the Hakeyes are again to be considered as a Big Ten championship repeater, and they will be watched in future games. Probably the most interesting Western Conference match in this section however, is the Ohio State-Michigan fracas at Columbus, which will have a big bearing on the trend of Big Ten foot ball this fall.

Perpetual Motion Machine Made?

F. G. Harmon

Scientists are paying much attention to a machine perfected by F. G. Harmon, students at Boston School of Technology, which may have solved the problem of perpetual motion. Water dropping from a reservoir turns a piston wheel, which operates a centrifugal pump which sends the water back to the reservoir.

In the east, Harvard is pointing itself for its combat with Centre, while eastern fans are recovering from the shock of Iowa's victory over Yale. The "Praying Colonels" do not appear to have as strong a team as formerly, for they were forced to extend themselves to defeat Virginia Poly 10 to 6, in the latter part of the game although they walloped the same team 14 to 0 last year. Two of Centre's star players were on the sidelines however, and Harvard will take no chances with the Kentucky team in the Saturday game.

Of local interest was the Cedarville-Rio Grande game at Cedarville, which resulted in a 19 to 0 defeat for Cedarville, its third of the season, and the St. Xavier University of Dayton combat, in which Dayton lost its first game of the season to the strong Cincinnati eleven at Cincinnati.

In independent circles, the Dayton Triangles defeated the Minneapolis

Marines at Dayton Sunday, 17 to 0, while the Xenia Legion team lost to the Dayton Eagles 25 to 0 here. The West Carrollton Tritons, which team will be met by the Legion next Sunday defeated the Hamilton Athletic Club 14 to 0.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS SEIZE TOBACCO PLANT

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—The manufacturing plant of the Peace Tobacco

Company of this city was seized Sunday by U. S. officers and is held pending disposal of charges that the firm has been selling packages whose weight was in excess of that called for on the revenue stamp which they bore.

The government's action followed complaint made by a competitor of the Peace company and was characterized by the president of that firm as "a piece of spite work." This officer said that if the packages were overweight they had been made so unintentionally or through absorption of moisture from the air. His company made an effort to settle with the government by paying the alleged surplus taxes due when the case first came up several days ago but this suggestion was not acted upon.

We Must Carry On

Ohio Wesleyan is a fountain of good from which a perpetual stream of national influence has flowed for eighty years. Our forefathers, stalwart Methodist pioneers, opened this fountain in 1842 to develop in the youths of their day scholarly minds and strong characters. Today we are face to face with the responsibility of carrying on the education and character building work that they started.

Ours is a responsibility to the State, the Nation, the World; to God and Humanity—a responsibility that can only be discharged by such practical means as the development of a larger and properly paid faculty; more and better equipped buildings; a more extensive campus, and many other requirements so necessary to continue Ohio Wesleyan's eighty years' record of producing strong, upstanding, God-fearing men and women.

ANNOUNCEMENT

These Two Beautiful Homes

Located on North Detroit street, within 2 squares of the Court House, built and completely finished, and offered for sale by the owner, C. A. Kelble. They will be offered for sale on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 17 and 18, and will be sold during these two days or will be taken off the market if not sold. They are complete in all ways, and have all street assessments paid. You cannot appreciate the completeness and finish of these two homes unless you see them, and they will be opened for your inspection during these two days, both in the afternoon and in the evening. We will appreciate the pleasure of showing you through these homes whether you are wanting to buy or not. In case of bad weather it will be postponed. Will give notice in Daily Gazette and Republican.

C. A. KELBLE, Owner,

West Main St. Clothing Store.

The people of Xenia and community are fortunate in having offered them these two splendid homes. As Mr. Kelble's architect I assisted him in the planning of, and the building of, these Homes with the idea in view of putting into them a dollars worth of materials and labor for every dollar spent. Mr. Kelble is putting them on the market at a price for which you could not buy the lots and duplicate them today.

Both homes are built solidly and of first class materials. They are finished both outside and inside of materials, paints, varnishes, etc., that will remain in their present first class conditions indefinitely. These homes are built according to the best standards of the day and all materials and work are first class in all details. I assure you that you may feel safe in the purchasing of either of these homes and that you are getting as good as that amount of money will buy.

LOCAL STORES ARE DISPLAYING FALL FASHIONS THIS WEEK

Xenia department stores, millinery shops and clothing stores have marshalled a wealth of ideas for the city shopping trade, with their Fall Fashion displays, announcement of which appears in The Gazette and The Republican, today.

The Jobs Brothers' full page advertisement contains the latest hints for fall fashions, which also includes a strong appeal for attractive warm winter clothing of the latest cut.

Frocks, furs, suits, sport togs, hats, blouses and accessories, with the smartest wear for young people and the junior Miss are all extolled in their most becoming models, in each display.

"Mere Men" is not neglected in the attractive displays of the Katz and Richards and the Frazier stores, both business houses preparing to meet the eye of the fastidious male shopper with the latest in fall and winter weaves and styles.

Popular materials, and shapes for Maiday's millinery are exemplified in the advertisement of the Finney Millinery Store, which also appears in the edition.

New wraps and gowns, cloth, and models, are brought out conspicuously in the display of the Hutchison and Gibney Store.

The Moser Shoe store is announcing attractive prices in new fall and winter footwear to the buying public.
A similar advertisement has been prepared by the S. and S. Shoe Store, with that of the Engelman Store,
who have arranged to follow leaders in announcing popular prices, and goods.

The McDorman and Pumphrey Store, with the Criterion are announcing the latest news in fashion to their male patrons, in suits, caps, top coats, and over coats.

The fall trade, which is not at its height will do well to visit each of the stores included in the Fall Exhibit.

EXPLOSION OF OIL RESULTS FATALLY

Robert L. Collins returned Sunday from Hookstown, Pa., where he attended the funeral services for his cousin, William Leeper, who was killed in an oil explosion at the oil well on the Leeper farm, near Hookstown, Wednesday.

Mr. Collins, mother, Mrs. Mary L.
Collins, of North Detroit Street, who also attended the funeral did not return and will remain in Hookstown indefinitely. Contrary to original reports, it was Mrs. Collins' nephew and not her brother, who was killed in the explosion. Her brother, Hugh Leeper, father of William Leeper, was severely burned about the face, hands and arms in the accident that cost his son's life.

The explosion occurred when the men were welding a crude oil tank.
Mr. Leeper Sr., is expected to recover from the burns. Funeral services for his son were held Saturday.

COURT OF APPEALS IN SESSION HERE

The Greene County Court of Appeals began its periodical session here Monday morning.

Eleven cases will be presented before Judges Ferneding, Allread and Kunkle, during the present session of the appellate division, and it is expected that the Court will sit here at least two days in hearing the appeal cases.

HOUSES ON DISPALY WILL BE LIGHTED

The two new attractive homes erected on North Detroit Street by C. A. Kelble will be lighted up Monday evening, it is announced.

The new houses, will be placed on sale by Mr. Kelble Tuesday and Wednesday, and they will be open for the inspection of the public on the afternoons and evenings of these days.

The new homes are a distinct addition to what was formerly known as the Ormsby addition, before it was built up and their modern appointments are expected to draw many callers when they are open.
If not sold in the two days they will be offered, they will be withdrawn from the market, according to Mr.
Kelble.

CENTENARY TALK GIVEN AT CHURCH BY DR. FULKERSON

Representatives of seven Methodist Episcopal Churches, of this district, heard one of the most forceful speakers of the denomination at the First M. E. Church this city, Saturday, when Dr. L. E. Fulkerson, former United States vice-consul to Japan, addressed the body.

Dr. Fulkerson's address followei

by a luncheon, to which the representatives of the district, including the two Xenia M. E. Churches, Cedarville Jamestown, Spring Valley, Bowers-ville, and New Jasper Churches, were invited. The meeting was called by Dr. W. A. Wiant of Springfield, superintendent of the Springfield district of the Methodist Church, who presided at the meeting.

A delicious dinner was served at twelve o'clock, by the women of the M. E. Church, the body later adjourning to the lecture room of the church for Dr. Fulkerson's address.

The World Centenary Movement, and the outlook of the world from the standpoint of the Christian religion were handled by Dr. Fulkerson in his address, which was well received by his audience. The Centenary movement throughout the churches of the United States was touched upon by the speaker, who urged all members of the church to do their share in pledging money to the movement, and to follow up their pledge with financial gifts that could be spared.
